PARENTING PLAN ADDENDUM

Joint Approval of Educational Decisions

Your son/daughter has applied to be considered for enrollment at the Washington Youth Academy. In order for their application to be accepted, it is necessary for both parents who are identified on the Parenting Plan as having joint decision making authority grant permission for the student to attend the program. This signed statement will suffice as authorization from both parents for the applicant to be considered for admissions should they meet the eligibility requirements.

The Washington Youth Academy is a residential program where student are in our custody for 5.5 months. It is imperative that both parents fully support this program design and agree to all requirements outlined in the youth application. Parent's mutual support for this journey is necessary in order for the student to successfully regain control of their academic future.
