Leave requests should reflect the appropriate dates, amount of time and type of leave for the absence. Leave requests that impact multiple time reporting periods must be submitted in segments for each period unless the dates are consecutive.

  - Leave requests should be submitted as soon as employees are aware that they will need to be absent. If Leave Request Forms cannot be submitted prior to the absences (due to illness or other emergent need), requests should be submitted no later than the beginning of the first day that employees return to work.
  - When advance notice cannot be given because of emergencies or unforeseen circumstances due to domestic violence, sexual assault, or stalking, employees or their designee must notify their supervisor no later than the end of the first day of the related absence.
  - When employee absences make them unable to submit leave request by the processing deadlines, supervisors must submit the requests on behalf of the employees.
  - Leave slips should identify the appropriate leave code for the type of leave requested.
  - Employees should identify the general reason for leave on the leave slip under the comments.
