

WA-PAWS -Tab F8	Washington State Remailers	10/20/21
-----------------	---------------------------------------	----------

There are two Washington State EAS remailers - EAS-WA and SECC-WA. Both remailers provide essential mutual communication for all public alert and warning partners, and stakeholders to share information, ask questions, solve problems, and provide answers across the state.

THE TWO REMAILERS

EAS-WA subscribers should include all broadcasters serving the state, as well as state, county, municipal, and tribal emergency managers. EAS-WA is devoted to the “nuts and bolts” of public alert and warning in Washington.

SECC-WA subscribers should include all members of the SECC and Operational Area LECC Chairs. The SECC-WA remailer includes all entries from EAS-WA, plus SECC business, discussion, and “big picture” issues. NOTE: Posts to EAS-WA are automatically re-posted to SECC-WA, but not vice-versa. An individual only needs to subscribe to one remailer, depending on one’s role.

THE REMAILERS ARE PRIVATE

Both remailers are private. Only subscribers can post messages on either remailer. When a non-subscriber tries to post, the List Administrator is automatically contacted for a decision.

HOW TO SUBSCRIBE

To subscribe:

EAS-WA: <http://sea.sbe16.org/mailman/listinfo/eas-wa>

SECC-WA: <https://sea.sbe16.org/mailman/listinfo/secc-wa>

TIPS FOR REMAILER USE

1. To minimize unneeded traffic, be very careful with “Reply All.” If your reply only involves one person, reply to that individual and not the entire list. If your discussion involves only a few people, use individual addresses – not the remailer.
2. If sending to a remailer and additional recipients, add no more than two. Otherwise, the post may be rejected.

3. If your job position changes and you no longer need to remain on the remailer(s), go to the appropriate link above, unsubscribe the old address, and if needed, subscribe to the new one. Do the same if your current employer changes its email domain. Do not post using a colleague's email address unless that person is a subscriber. The remailers only know you by your email address.
4. For those with special needs not addressed here, accommodations can be made. Contact the List Administrator.

The Washington State EAS remailers are supported by the Seattle branch of the Society of Broadcast Engineers. The listservs are hosted by Hatfield & Dawson, Consulting Engineers.