SUMMARY OF DUTIES

The all-source Intel analyst supports the Senior Intelligence Officer's directive under the Western Air Defense's (WADS) Department of Intelligence (DOI) to ensure the directorate maintains the capability to provide timely and accurate intelligence during peacetime and contingencies. In doing so, the analyst position is given the responsibility to support intelligence operations thru training and developing analytic skills to defend airspace covered by the Western air defense sector. The analyst will support DOI by contextualizing Intelligence for the mission at hand, and synthesize it into the planning, training, and tactical execution of the mission. The applicant must have a thorough understanding of intelligence community processes, as well as a grasp for utilizing analytic tools in support of the warfighter. Additionally, this position will support developing, executing, and monitoring compliance with the intelligence training program. Moreover, the analyst position assists in performing other duties such as, Sensitive Compartmented Information Facility management, Special Security Representative duties, sector exercise planning, Intelligence Oversight, and scheduling. This position also ensures effective enlisted career guidance, the advancement of enlisted personnel's professional development, and AFSC skill level progression. Finally, the applicant will be required to coordinate with various intelligence agencies to support WADS operations and will have the opportunity to travel for several short-duration TDYs annually.

ELEMENTS

The following elements are considered essential for successful performance in this position. Response to the Elements is voluntary, however written response to each of the following Elements will ensure that specialized experience is recognized.

- Knowledge of means, methods, sources, and techniques used in intelligence operations, applications functions, and doctrine
- Knowledge of intelligence applications/tool sets to support military operations
