- Applicant must possess or be able to obtain a TOP SECRET/SCI security clearance.

SUMMARY OF DUTIES

Performs information operations that protect and defend (or assess the capability to protect and defend) information and information systems by ensuring their availability, integrity, authentication, confidentiality, and non-repudiation. Evaluates and assesses vulnerabilities of customer network and application server hardware, operating system software, and peripheral network equipment such as routers, bridges, switches, attached cabling system, network interface cards, modems, multiplexers, and concentrators. Analyzes equipment and software reliability and suitability for vulnerability assessment utilization. Conducts analysis of network usage, hardware and software capabilities, ineffective practices or procedures, equipment shortcomings, and other relevant factors. Assists with oversight and maintenance of the squadron's digital training range(s), a suite of servers, routers, switches, hubs and other devices which can be configured with a variety of different operating systems in various versions, and with pre-programmed vulnerabilities, to be used in Computer Network Operations (CNO) training. Consults with subordinates, supervisors, specialists, vendors, and sister IO squadrons to procure and maintain training range devices that realistically emulate Air Force networks and are flexibly re-configurable to emulate the network(s) of a specific Air Force base as needed to prepare for vulnerability assessment missions.

ELEMENTS

The following elements are considered essential for successful performance in this position. Response to the Elements is voluntary, however written response to each of the following Elements will ensure that specialized experience is recognized.

- Element I - Ability to organize, schedule, and manage training events for team members, (to include Drill Status Guardsmen) during Unit Training Assemblies, Annual Training, and other training opportunities as required to ensure mission readiness.
- Element II - Knowledge of information technology (IT) security and information protection methods and techniques to include using various computer operating systems, firewalls, and intrusion detection software. Experience and knowledge of network systems design, development, testing, installation, operating, management, maintenance concepts and methods, and/or programming and scripting languages to provide and protect network services.
- Element III - Ability to lead other team members conducting audits and assessments of security standards, vulnerability mitigation and compliance and to achieve tasked goals and requirements. Knowledge of Cyber Protection Team (CPT) operations, requirements, and methodology.
- Element IV - Knowledge of government and military IT security regulations, policies, standards. Knowledge and experience in use of tools, tactics and procedures used in penetration testing and vulnerability exploits of computer networks.
- Element VI - Other duties as assigned.
