141 MDG Det 1, Fairchild AFB WA 99011	8 OCT 2026	6 NOV 2026	1142685, 1052297
POSITION TITLE, GRADE, AFSC, FACILITY:
Aerospace Medical Service Craftsman, MSgt, 4N071
MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS FOR CONSIDERATION:
Retraining Opportunity: Master Sergeant or a promotable Technical Sergeant. Must hold the AFSC or be willing to cross train within 1 year of selection and achieve 3-level skill level. Applicants must meet time in grade, time in service requirements, completed required PME by close of bid, and meet Air Force fitness standards at the time of application. Must have a minimum physical profile of PULHES 222221 and a General ASVAB score of 50. Must possess or be eligible for a secret security clearance.
AREA OF CONSIDERATION:
All current members of the Washington Air National Guard.
WORKING CONDITIONS:
The UTA working conditions are typically within the 141st Medical Group/DET1 at Fairchild AFB, WA. TDY's and deployments as required to support the mission.
SUMMARY OF DUTIES:
Members of the 141 MDG Detachment operate in fast-paced, mission-driven environments with a primary focus on supporting the Homeland Response Force (HRF) and Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and high-yield Explosive Enhanced Response Force Package (CERFP) operations. This includes active participation in domestic disaster response missions, field training exercises, and expeditionary medical support, requiring adaptability, technical proficiency, and operational awareness. Detachment personnel take an active leadership role in both the 10th HRF CERFP program and the 141st ARW Clinical Services mission, contributing to the readiness and effectiveness of the team in diverse and often unpredictable conditions. In addition to HRF responsibilities, Detachment members work closely with the Nursing Services NCOIC and Expeditionary Operations NCOIC to ensure medical standards are met and enforced across the 141 ARW, 256 IS, and 242 CBCS. Maintaining medical mission readiness for all assigned personnel is a critical component of daily operations. This role demands the ability to multitask, remain flexible, and respond quickly to evolving mission requirements—whether at home station, abroad, or during domestic emergency response.

SPECIALIZED EXPERIENCE:
Be an active and visible leader. Must possess the ability to communicate effectively and be a problem solver. Demonstrate, inspire and develop in others an understanding of the Air Force and Air National Guard Core Values. Must be able to work well under stress and meet timelines while adhering to regulations and standards. Drive a culture of excellence across the medical group, fostering operational innovation and aligning team efforts with the Commander's strategic vision. Advise senior leadership on medical operations, developing and implementing strategic plans to optimize unit efficiency, readiness, and capabilities. Direct the deliberate development of Noncommissioned Officers (NCOs) and Airmen, cultivating a sustainable pipeline of future organizational leaders through targeted mentorship. Direct and assume accountability for critical medical programs, ensuring strict regulatory compliance, efficient resource management, and maximum operational impact. Lead and coordinate Homeland Response Force (HRF) and CERFP mission activities, serving as a senior enlisted operational planner and advisor during domestic responses. Analyze and brief Wing-level medical readiness metrics, developing and executing strategic initiatives to overcome compliance shortfalls across the installation. Perform other duties as assigned.
